Judge Armstrong Overrules Motion to Strike Out Portions of Commissioners' Answer.

CONTENTION OF ATTY, LYON.

Declares That the Benefits Received By County from Expensive Publication of Lists Not at Issue.

Judge George G. Armstrong overruled this morning the motion of County Atty. Job P. Lyon to strike out the facts and circumstances as a defense set forth in the answer of the county commissioners to the suit brought in behalf of Salt Lake county to compel the commissioners to pay back to the county treasurer $5,727.50 alleged to have been illegally paid to the Inter-Mountain Republican for publishing the delinquent tax list, under a secret controt. This decision, however, does not affect the case in any way and Mr. Lyon was granted five days to demur to the answer, which he will do. Mr. Lyon's contention was that the facts set forth in the answer which attempted to justify the commissioners for their actions were immaterial and irrevelant to the allegations in the complaint. He stated further that the benefits received by the county from the publication of the tax lists was not an issue of the case.

H. E. Booth, president of the Inter Mountain Republican and United States district attorney, assisted by Atty. Barnard Stewart, held that the county commissioners had a right to set forth all the facts and circumstances and benefits derived from their action as a defense to the allegations of the

The arguments consumed the entire forenoon in Judge Armstrong's court. After Mr. Lyon made the motion to strike out the alleged facts and circumstances because they were immaterial, Mr. Booth prisented his argument

AUDITOR WAS NEGLECTFUL. He declared that the commissioners He declared that the commissioners did not act in this matter without the authority of law. He read from the statutes where the commissioners were compelled to advertise the delinquent tax lists before these taxes could be collected. It was also contended that the county auditor was the officer authorized to advertise for bids and not the commissioners. Mr. Booth declared that the county auditor was the county auditor was the county auditor was the county auditor was the county auditor. Booth declared that the county auditor neglected to advertise as he was required by law and this was a defense for their action of giving the contract to the Inter-Mountain Republicant publican.

Mr. Booth argued that the county commissioners were not personally liable or their bondsmen for the money appropriated for things authorized by law. He cited a number of cases which he admitted he should have argued when the demurrer was filled to the complaint. In these cases he attempted to show what the law was on the personal liability of the board of county commissioners.

"Where the commissioners appropriate money for object authorized by law they are not liable personally, he said. The publication of the delinquent tax lists is required by law and the county receives a benefit for and the county receives a benefit for the publication. For this reason I think the facts set forth that the county was able to collect $180,000 in delinquent taxes is a benefit and that it is a proper defense to set forth in this answer."

STEWART'S ARGUMENT.

Mr. Stewart took up the facts and circumstances set forth in the answer. He argued that they were material because they set up an estoppel since there were no allegations of fraud, bad faith, or corruption in the complaint. He cited several authorities to support his position. He also took up the duties of judicial office such as county commissioners are under the statutes of Utah. In his arguments on this point he said that the commissioners had come within the requirements of law by advertising and collecting the taxes, although he admitted that bids were not advertised.

NOT APPROPRIATE NOW.

In closing the arguments, Mr. Lyon said that these arguments would have been appropriate a week ago when the demurrer was argued but not now. He doclared that in his complaint he had set forth that no bids had been received or contract made, that the city treasurer never authorized the publishing of the list and that the county auditor had never davertised for bids. These allegations, he said, were not denied or affirmed in the answer but that alleged facts and circumstances were alleged facts and circumstances were set up to justify the actions of the commissioners. He held that the pleadings ought not to be burdened with these things and asked that they be stricken out.

Without any comment Judge Armstrong overruled the motion. The court asked Mr. Lyon how much time he wanted in which to demur to the answer. He asked for five days and it was granted.

The suit was brought against the commissioners on April 19, 1909. In the complaint the defendants mentioned are: James E. Clinton and his bondsmen, Lewis S. Hills and W. L. Eller-beck; John C. Mackay and his bonds-men, E. H. Callister and Daniel Mac-kay; W. J. Brinton and his bondsmen, John R. Smith and Heber S. Cutler.

RIVERS AND HARBORS EXPERT VISITS CITY

John A. Fox Dwells on Importance of Extending Water Transportation Throughout United States.

John A. Fox of Washington, D. C., special director of the National Rivers and Harbors congress, stopped over in Salt Lake for a few hours yesterday, registering at the Knutsford. Mr. Fox has been touring the Pacific coast in behalf of the rivers and harbors move-ment, and as a result of his lectures, which have been delivered before the commercial organizations of the cities through which he passed, the towns and cities of the coast and inland territory have affiliated themselves with the castern organizations, formed to advance the work of developing the rivers and harbors of the country. May Fox said that all cities, whether inland or coast, had a particular interest in the deepening of waterways, as the contract of accountry are substituted. ports of a country are only the gate-ways of commerce, and the inland towns benefit as much proportionately in the introductions of shipping tarins as do the port cities themselves. He cited the instance of Boston. "Prior to the improvement of Boston harbor, in 1883," said Mr. Fox. "it cost 11½ cents per bushel to send our grain to Europe, and that grain came largely from states like Kansas, Nebraska, the Da-kotas and Minnesota, We have ex-pended five millions in Boston harbor, so that instead of a 2,200-ton vessel so that instead of a 2,200-ton vessel coming into that port for grain, on 23 feet of water, we now have 12,000-ton ships carrying that grain to Liverpool on 31 feet of water, at 2 3-10 cents per bushel The saving of this 3 7-10 cents per bushel is not to the man in Boston, where the harbor was deepened, but directly helps the shipper in the interior growing states, who ralses the grain.

Mr. Fox regretted very much that his arrangements would not permit him to stop over in Salt Lake long enough to make a public address in regard to rivers and harbors, to show the people what interest they really have in the development of those courses of commercial traffic. After stopping in Denver a few days, he will go to Missouri river points, where he is due to deliver lectures

TO CHARGE INSANITY.

Frank Simmons, who has been an inmate of the Keogh-Hammond hospital for six weeks, will be charged with insanity in an affidavit to be filled this afternoon by a nurse from the hospital. Simmons was injured just hefore below taken to the hospital and hospital. Simmons was injured just before being taken to the hospital and one of his legs was amputated in con-sequence. At that time he was thought to be insane and since the nurses have been unable to cope with him in his violent spells.

AMUSEMENTS.

Grand—Manager Eldredge has been surprised and gratified at the liberal response of the public to his offering this week. The house is quite cool in the evenings and the audiences manifest their enjoyment at the work of the Mack and Douglas players, in unmistakable fashion.

Next week "Tennessee's Pardner" will form the bill.

FLOODS DELAY OFFICER.

Frank E. Stark, who was arrested in this city a couple of weeks ago as he was wanted at Neosho. Mo., for an assault upon a girl with intent to take her life, and who confessed his guilt, will have to remain here until the floods in Missouri abate before he can be taken back to the scene of his at-tempted murder. A wire was received today from E. J. Pearman, town mar-shal, stating that he is not able to get to Salt Lake to take Stark on account of the high water.

FALLS UNDER TRAIN.

E. S. Connelly, Stenographer for Supt Jones, O. S. L. May Lose Leg. E. S. Connelly, stenographer for Supt. lones of the Idaho division of the Short

Line, was severely injured this morning at Owinza station. He was at-tempting to board a freight train when he slipped and partly fell beneath the wheels of the caboose. Connelly's right leg was so severely injured that amputation may be necessary. He was placed on No. 8 and sent to this city, where he will arrive this evening.

PILL ROLLERS IN CONVENTION

Happy Lot of Druggists Begin Their Session This Morning.

DISCUSS HEAVY SUBJECTS.

All Sorts of Ominous Phrases Juggled About With Abandon That Startles the Layman.

Delving deep into the mysteries of incturae viburni opuli composita, conducting learned discussions as to the relative merits of liquor antisepticus alkalinus, as compared with pilulas quadrupulis, not to mention anadyne hydratis or nux vomica and pepsin, the ninth annual state convention of the Utah Pharmaceutical association met in solemn conclave today in the assem bly hall of the Commercial club. Out side of the air of mysticism engendered by long association with incomprehensible Latin signatures, coupled with the preparation of various decoctions and wonderful formulas under cabalistic designations, the members of the association who assembled at the first meeting this morning seemed very much like other mortains seemed very much like other mortais, and appeared to be all jolly good fellows.

Some of the members are lifelong residents of Salt Lake City; others have worried through their entire careers in Ogden, and other cities of the state; all of them are interested in state: all of them are interested in Utah, in Salt Lake and in their home towns, and to hear them talk this morning, the "pilirollers" of Utah are among the best boosters in the commonwealth, with the chief object in view of promoting the health, wealth, and general welfare of the people thereof.

WELCOME TO THE CITY. On account of delayed trains the attendance at the opening session was not as large as had been anticipated. However, more members kept coming in as the session went on, and by afternoon nearly the whole membership had shown up at the meeting.

The session this morning was called to order by Joy H. Johnson, manager of the F. J. Hill Drug company, president of the association. Prayer was offered by special chaplin, Rev. S. H. Goodwin of Provo. Rollcall followed, disclosing the presence of about 25 delegates. They came from all parts of the state, and it was like a reunion of old friends. On motion the reading of the minutes was dispensed with for the time, and the gathering proceded with the seguite and the procedure with the seguite and the procedure. On account of delayed trains the atthe minutes was dispensed with for the time, and the gathering proceded with the regular order of business. The address of welcome to the delegates was made by Dr. W. A. Wade of Salt Lake City. Dr. Wade expressed his pleasure at greeting the pharmacists of the state, and bade them welcome to the city. He hoped their gathering would be interesting and profitable, not only to the delegates as individuals and pharmacists, but to the community in general.

session and those to follow tomorrow. Shortin before 12 o'clock a recess was taken until 2 p. m., when the address of the president, Joy H. Johnson, was delivered. Reports of committees, and reading and discussion of papers also occupied the convention until 5 p. m., when the members are scheduled to take the train to Saltair, there to join when the members are scheduled to take the train to Saltair, there to join the ladies, who took the 2 o'clock train for the beach resort.

Those answering roll call at this morning's meeting were the following: Joy 'H, Johnson, president of the association, Salt Lake City; C. J. Schmidt of the Schmidt Drug Co., Sandy; Will J. Willes of the Willes-Horne Drug Co., Salt Lake; City; Clem Schramm of the F. C. Schramm Drug Co., Salt Lake; Richard Bridge of the Bridge Drug Co., Salt Lake; Richard Bridge of the Bridge Drug Co., Salt Lake; George Driver of the William Driver Drug Co., of Ogden, and treasurer of the Phamaceutical association; George W. Reed of the Z. C. M. I. Drug Co.; Charles Van Dyke of the Van Dyke Drug Co., William H. Dayton of the Dayton Drug Co.; F. A. Druchl of Druchl & Franken, Harry Knowles of the Smith-Bailey Drug Co., Thomas W. Halliday of the Halliday Drug Co., D. B. Hoover of the Hoover Drug Co. L. M. May of the May Drug Drug Co. L. M. Thomas W. Halliday of the Halliday Drug Co., D. B. Hoover of the Hoover Drug Co., L. M. May of the May Drug Co., A. A. Robinson of the Robinson Drug Co., Dr. W. A. Wade of Sait Lake City, Fred W. Scarff of Chicago, A. H. Malben of the Maiben Drug Co., of Provo; R. A. B. Hatch of the Beaver Drug Co., Beaver; W. N. Drew of the Park Davis Drug Co., of Detroit, and others.

PHARMACEUTICAL NOTES.

Fred W. Scarff of Chicago was among "those present" at the pharmacists' convention. Mr. Scarff was for some years in the drug business in Salt Lake City, at one time connected with the Scarff-Crismon Drug Co., and later in business for himself. In 1903 he moved to Chicago. he moved to Chicago.

Perhaps the two oldest druggists in line of service in the city were at the opening session of the convention this morning. They are Will J. Willes, one of the proprietors of the Willes-Horne Drug Co., and Richard Bridge, proprietor of the Bridge Drug Co. of this city. Mr. Willes entered the employ of the Godbe-Pitts Drug Co. in the spring of 1880, while Mr. Bridge began with the Z. C. M. I. Drug Co., directly across the street, early in the same year. year.

President Joy H. Johnson looked his name up this morning. He was beam-ing with smiles of welcome for all, in-cluding newspaper representatives.

Pharmaceutists Archibald Bevan of Tooele and Alex, Hedquist of Provo, who were to have delivered the re-sponses to the address of welcome, were unable to be present, and the re-sponses were delivered by Messrs. Eddy of Brigham City and Boyden of

The ladies of the party, wives, sisters and sweethearts of the delegates, took trains for the beach a few hours ahead of their escorts this afternoon, some said for the purpose of practising up in archery and bowling in order to win the target and bowling matches scheduled for this afternoon. This evening the members and their ladies will attend a knowled of the phin eafer and tend a banquet at the ship cafe, and the evening will close with a ball in the pavilion

One of the interesting features of to morrow morning's session will be an address on "The Operation and Enforcement of the Pure Food and Drugs Act of June 30, 1906," by Hon. George P. McCabe, solicitor of the department of agriculture at Washington, D. C. Mr. McCabe is a Utah product, having

SAYS THE COURT

He Refused to Aid Patrolman Tyler, Who Was Dragging a Woman By Her Hair.

Of the sextet, George Ottwell, J. C. Miller, J. I. Waters, Harry Austin, W. S. Terry and H. B. Silver, who were arrested on the charge of interfering with Patrolman Tyler after they had objected to his brutality towards Mary Jones, whom he had placed under arrest, only one was found guilty after an all day's trial yesterday. Ott-well's resentment to seeing a husky police officer drag even a drunken woman by the hair brought him a decision of guilty of having interfered with an officer, but the other defendants were discharged because of the insufficiency of the complaining witness' assuring testimony. In the case of one of them the only substantiating evidence the officer could offer in his charge of resistance was that he had asked the man to assist him and the defendant had replied that he "wouldn't help any — that beat a woman." The time for sentence in Ottwell's case was set for tomorrow morning.

E. C. Lewis and A. Cowell, the two wayfarers arrested last night within the limits of the old stockade, and who refused to take the special watchman's word for it that the stockade is a thing of the past, were called for trial before Judge Bownsan this morning on the charge of trespassing. Cowell forfeit-ed $10 ball, and Lewis had an excuse based on "oblivion," that earned him a decrease, of $5.

When the case of A. B. Altree, charged with a violation of the city ordinances by conducting a salary loan office without the proper licens office without the proper iteense, was called this morning. City Atty. Rogers asked that it be dismissed because of insufficiency of evidence. The prosecutor informed the court that the charges made could not be substantiated, and the court granted the motion.

On motion of the county attorney this morning Judge Bowman dismissed this morning Judge Bowman dismissed the case against Henry Smith, charged with perjury, alleged to have been committed in Justice of the Peace Stanley A. Hanks' court. The defendant through counsel demurred to the complaint, and Asst. County Atty. Agron Myers admitted to the court this morning that the points of the demurrer were well taken, and asked that the case be dismissed.
